

Carriage charges 2007

Orders over £ 150 will be shipped carriage free within the UK

We will ship orders below £150, but ask a contribution of £7 towards carriage costs

The £150 order limit for free carriage is invoice value AFTER ALL DISCOUNTS and EXCLUDING VAT.

This applies to a SINGLE SHIPMENT to a single destination. If you split an order to two or more destinations, each will be dealt with as a separate order and any (and all) shipments which are under £150 will be charged £7 carriage.

In the event however that we split a shipment, if for example we had to back order a line, then if the original order was over £150 we will not charge carriage.

The above assumes our normal carrier service, any special carriage arrangements will be charged at cost.

Republic of Ireland – Orders over £300 sterling are carriage free. Orders under £300, carriage charge £15

Other locations as shown in table.

Delivery times estimate:

Mainland UK (excluding Highlands, Islands and Northern Ireland) - normally within 3 working days
Scotland highlands – normally within 5 working days
Northern Ireland – normally within 5 working days
Scotland Islands – normally within 5 working days
Isle of Man, Channel Islands – normally within 5 working days
Republic of Ireland – normally within 5 working days
Other EU - see table

Actually most orders placed before 10:30 am will be packed and dispatched that same day and UK mainland addresses usually receive delivery inside 2 working days. Working days do not include weekends and bank holidays. If you require delivery on a Saturday then, if it is possible to arrange it, we'll charge at cost. Please be aware however that it is not always possible to arrange and can be quite expensive.

We cannot arrange dispatch of goods during business closure times.

We do not operate at weekends or UK bank holidays and normally we will be closed for around 2 weeks over Christmas/New year. Additional business closure times will include attendance at major shows, stock counting audit periods etc, these will be notified in advance to regular customers.
